

School: MARP Adugodi

M is a grade 7 student from MARP Adugodi school. One knows her as an active child, always on her feet and looking for trouble in the classroom. Initially her engagement in the activities were minimal, and facilitators found it difficult to interact. But for some time now since her engagement with arts there has been a significant shift in her behaviour. This is seen both while she is engaging with the artworks and also at home.

With artworks providing her consistent opportunity to hone life skills like taking initiatives and responsibility, alongside other skills and attitudes, she has been making a notable impact on lives around her. M's mother mentions how both sisters would quarrel tirelessly before but now M has become calmer. She has taken the responsibility of teaching her younger sibling and supporting her in both academics and artworks. She has even initiated to teach Devi and that brings her a lot of joy and pride.
